

Kalinda is a new development of the ReinSaat breeding emerging from a targeted cross-breeding that has been refined for many years and was further developed into a stable line. This tomato variety can be described as a mixture of a cocktail tomato and a mini San Marzano. It has an oblong oval form and an attractive deep red colour. The thick-fleshed fruits convince with their intense taste which is typical of tomatoes. With a weight of about 35-45g, the fruits have an ideal size to be marketed as a snack tomato and as a prominently aromatic salad tomato. The fruits are burst resistant, and the shelf life on the plant as well as following the harvest are very good. The plants are of indeterminate growth and very productive. They form long, parallel grapes that can be harvested easily without their calyx. The variety is recommended for professional greenhouse cultivation in particular.

Fact sheet:

Growth:	indeterminate
Fruit shape:	oblong-oval
Fruit size:	5/3 cm
Fruit colour:	deep red
Fruit weight:	35 - 45 g
Taste:	aromatic, intense and fruity
Maturity:	medium early
Time harvested as:	single fruit without calyx, on the panicle
Usage:	for all forms of marketing
Shelf life:	very long
Recommended Cultivation:	Greenhouse